BCLP'S ARIZONA INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PRACTICE RECEIVES BAND 1 RANKING IN CHAMBERS USA GUIDE 2024

Jul 12, 2024

International law firm BCLP announced that the firm has been recognized in the Chambers USA Guide 2024. This year, BCLP received 32 practice area rankings across multiple regions and nationwide categories, with 83 attorneys highlighted for their exceptional work as individuals. Notably, the firm's Arizona Intellectual Property Practice has achieved a Band 1 designation, further solidifying the practice's reputation in the field.

The Arizona Intellectual Property Practice includes patent lawyers with diverse and practical experience in key fields to include investors, scientists, and engineers; trademark lawyers who are former corporate brand managers; and former copyright owners in various fields.

Chambers and Partners ranks attorneys and law firms based on their technical legal ability, professional conduct, client service, commercial astuteness, diligence, commitment and on other qualities most valued by the client. In this year's guide, clients shared with Chambers that, "The BCLP team has excellent substantive knowledge, careful attention to craft and a superb ability to capture ideas or proposals in succinct and understandable wording." A client also stated, "They truly work as and when their clients need them and they have always met our deadlines." Another added, "BCLP is very committed to us and are very responsive."

"The Band 1 ranking for our Arizona Intellectual Property Practice underscores BCLP's unwavering commitment to understanding and protecting the special value of our client's intellectual property needs," said Intellectual Property and Technology Partner George Chen. "The depth of our experience allows us to successfully guide clients through the most complex intellectual property challenges— from litigation to licensing international regulations."
